

FULL STEAM AHEAD!

Full Steam Ahead is a project funded by Arts Council, England. This extraordinary time of lockdown comes as Barrow Hill Roundhouse celebrates it's 150th Anniversary. At a time where we should be welcoming schools and visitors to the museum to help us celebrate, instead the Roundhouse faced an uncertain future. The Arts Council responded quickly to the crisis offering emergency funding to the arts and culture sector. We are so grateful and pleased to announce that we have been successful, securing the future of the museum during these turbulent times.

We want to take this opportunity to thank the Arts Council, England, The National Lottery and to everybody who plays the lottery! This vital funding has not only provided us with essential operational costs but has also allowed us to continue working with our amazing volunteers and fantastic local artists through the following activities:

Lockdown The Line!

Our celebrations will look a little different to our initial plans this year as we turn digital! We will produce a digital 'abridged' version of our successful community play 'Down The Line', written by Kevin Fegan and directed by Carole Copeland. This time using zoom, film and animation. Elements include; singing, dancing, drama, hair, makeup, set design and costumes. Everybody welcome! If you are interested in getting involved please contact the Learning Team: learning@barrowhill.org

Ask The Experts

Our amazing and knowledgeable volunteers are standing by to answer your questions. We are welcoming questions related to life on the railways, engineering, history or cultural careers. You can ask your questions via Facebook or by email to: learning@barrowhill.org

Supported using public funding by
ARTS COUNCIL

In addition to the above funding we would like to thank Active Derbyshire, Young Peoples Fund who have generously funded additional work in the village of Barrow Hill and surrounding area of Staveley. This work is led by Community Growth CIC and includes building a 'Community Chorus' for 'Lockdown The Line'.
